Mohammed Kinewa is a recent arrival to Britain from North Africa. He has never paid a penny in tax in this country, yet he is now getting £617.72 every week, that's £32,000 a year, out of our pockets.

It's no wonder this man is fleeing Africa. He is a convicted terrorist and was tried in absentia four years ago for killing four soldiers. Not surprisingly, the story of Mohammed Kinewa, his two wives, 15 children and two large houses in Birmingham, have caused national outrage. But such stories are only the tip of a huge

DOUBLE STANDARDS

Media ignore Hate Crimes against White Britons, while giving massive coverage to similar crime against a non-white victim

ONE victim of a racial attack by a group of four men is treated for knife wounds sufficiently minor for him to be allowed to leave hospital within a couple of days. The story of his and his girlfriend's ordeal then becomes big news, with massive coverage in the national papers, TV and radio.

Another lone victim of a racial attack, this time by a gang of up to 17 youths shouting racist abuse, is so badly beaten with an iron bar that he spends several days in a critical condition in intensive care.

His head injuries are so bad that surgeons won't even consider sending him home for more than a week. The story of his nearly fatal experience of multiracialism makes the front page of the local paper, but doesn't receive a single word of coverage in the national media.

The two attacks took place within just ten days of each other and in the same part of the country - the West Midlands. The first victim, aged 28, gave journalists a useful 'human interest' angle on account of being a talented long-jumper and going out with a potential member of Britain's Olympic team. The second victim, aged just 16, gave journalists a useful 'human interest' angle on account of being a popular 6'3" 'gentle giant' who, in addition to being a keen member of the Air Cadet Corps, had been considering joining the police force.

So why did the victim of the first - far less serious - attack get all the media coverage, while the second attack was covered up by the national press? Because the first attack - on black athlete Ashia Hansen's boyfriend Chris Cotter - was carried out by white racist thugs, while the attempted murder of Richard Holmes was by a gang of black racist thugs.

YOUR CHANCE TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

EXCLUSIVE

LIFE FOR decent, hard-working, law-abiding Britons is getting more difficult and unpleasant all the time: soaring crime and council taxes; politically correct interference with the police and schools; collapsing public transport and health services, and ever more asylum seekers.

But on Thursday, May 4th, huge numbers of Freedom readers will have the chance to do something to tell Tory Blair's government of 'ex-communists' and supporters of sexual access to children that Britain has had enough. The British National Party will be on ballot papers across London for the Greater London Assembly election in both the party list and the for the post of mayor. Our mayoral candidate is BNP press spokesman Michael Newland.

No. 3 APRIL 2000
Editor: Nick Griffin

The Voice of Freedom says ...

THE British National Party regularly receives letters from members of the public who seem to retain a misplaced confidence in the willingness of the main parties to address their complaints.

The argument goes something like this. "We agree with the BNP but it is not necessary to support you since the Government will soon see sense in the face of our complaints". Some writers appear to have a touching faith in the galvanising effect of a single letter from them to their MP!

The public, not unnaturally, would like solutions without the inconvenience of major change, and this weakens their resolve to break out of the vicious circle of voting for the existing tribe of politicians.

That is how one arrives at the bizarre situation in which Londoners complain bitterly about illegal immigration while telling pollsters they intend to vote for Ken Livingstone - someone who stands for everything they oppose!

The reality is that reasoning with the main parties and those who are seen, like Livingstone, as in the same camp, is no more likely to succeed than asking Al Capone to become a respectable citizen.

The full intention is to destroy our society and its people, and all one will obtain by appealing to those in power at present is empty words and false promises.

Reality is at last, however, beginning to bear in on an increasing number of people. A germ of doubt about the good intentions of the fast talkers from Lib/Lab/Con is spreading rapidly.

It will not be long before the new and different voice of our party breaks through the barricades of censorship which have stood for forty years silencing our people.

Change is coming whether the pitiful creatures in power like it or not.

£2 BILLION A YEAR!

iceberg of abuse of our generosity by bogus asylum seekers.

Meanwhile, millions of pensioners have to live in poverty and cold in an uphill struggle to survive.

They get £66.75 a week! At the same time, the latest official figures show that one-third of ALL British children live in poverty as well.

And the plight of thousands of homeless people on our streets — one-third of them ex-servicemen — is another national disgrace.

As one neighbour of pampered Mohammed said: "We have had to wait years and years for a council house and this guy swans into the country and is handed two — it's outrageous."

We are told daily by the Labour politicians letting these people in that nearly every problem the country faces is down to a lack of money.

That's supposed to be the problem killing NHS patients and destroying our transport network.

But there always seems to be plenty of money when it comes to foreigners!

And if there isn't, local councils all over Britain are finding a simple solution — increase our council taxes!

Just consider one example: a nurses' home opposite the General Hospital in Newcastle-Upon-Tyne is being renovated, with new kitchens and bathrooms, security doors, double glazing, new furniture throughout, digital TVs, videos and central heating. But it is not for the nurses, pensioners or the homeless. It is for 500 Albanian refugees, who will get cash in hand from an on-site benefits office!

The Albanians will not pay rent, council tax, gas or electricity bills or water rates.

The picture is the same the country over. Nurses' homes and old peoples' homes are being closed down, only to be re-opened a few weeks later for 'refugees' and 'asylum seekers'.

The 'asylum' flood into Britain have increased 50% under Home Secretary Jack Straw's 'tough' policy.

Public concern is so great that newspaper editors are finding that stories about the problem sell papers, and even the Tories have started to make concerned noises about the problem.

But worried noises and hot air are all we'll get from the Tories.

After all, the problem started under them in the first place. It's the oldest Conservative trick in the book to make anti-immigration noises while out of office, but then leave the gates wide open once they're in power.

The plain truth is that only one party in Britain is really committed to saying 'No' to any more bogus asylum seekers - the BNP. And that's why more people than ever will be voting British National Party in the forthcoming local elections.

There's no better way to send a clear message to Blair about asylum seekers: BRITAIN'S HAD ENOUGH!

• Asylum seekers begging in London. How long is this going to continue? Isn't it enough that we give them free clothes, houses, and a nice wad of cash that they still use babies — reported to be plastic dolls in one case — to pull on the heartstrings of the public.

One third of all British children live in poverty. Why not give them the £2 billion a year likely to be wasted on scrounging foreigners? Look after our own people first!

'RED' KEN LIVINGSTONE AND THE IRA

IF Ken Livingstone is elected as Mayor of London, the bombers and gunmen of the IRA will gain a powerful ally if they decide to return to open terrorism.

MI5 has reopened its secret security files on Livingstone, believing that he may be 'used' by Sinn Fein to replace links between Westminster and the IRA which would be broken if the killing starts again. When leader of the extreme left-wing GLC in the 1980s, Livingstone became widely hated because of his support for Sinn Fein/IRA during the height of their republican terror-bombing campaign. He said that the IRA "were not criminals".

A senior MI5 source says: "If the IRA started a bombing campaign, the links between leaders like Gerry Adams and the government would be cut. Republicans would look for a powerful figure in mainland Britain who would be prepared to meet them and champion their cause".

"London's elected mayor will be the most powerful politician in Britain after the Prime Minister - and he would be very attractive to them. Ken's made no secret of his sympathy for the Republican cause."

The last time he was in power in London, Livingstone invited Sinn Fein leaders to London just after their terrorist wing had bombed it!

When he's not backing republican terrorists or anarchist rioters, champagne socialist and restaurant critic Livingstone claims to stand up for ordinary working people, but he has recently thrown his support behind the bid to scrap the pound - something which would place the British economy and British workers at the mercy of foreign bankers.

Livingstone once described himself as "proud to be an opportunist". So it's no surprise that he started his London mayoral campaign by posing as a pauper, and begging for donations from ordinary Londoners, while failing to declare to parliament hundreds of thousands of pounds for speaking at fat-cat dinners.

ONE THIRD OF ALL BRITISH CHILDREN LIVE IN POVERTY!

BRITISH CHILDREN are more likely to be born into poverty and to live in a household where nobody works than those in any other European country.

A study by UNICEF found that Britain has the worst record for three out of five of the main indicators of child poverty. Nearly 33 per cent of children live in households officially classified as poor, where the weekly income is less than half the median for the nation as a whole. This compares with 24 percent in Italy, 13 per cent in Germany, 12 in France and an EU average of 20 per cent.

The study was published in New Economy, the journal of the Institute for Public Research. Its authors, John Micklewright and Kitty Stewart, found that 19.5 per cent of children in Britain (nearly three million) live in workless households; the EU average is 10.5 per cent.

Britain also has by far the highest rate of teenage pregnancies - nearly three times the EU average: 28.5 births per 1,000 15 to 19-year old girls a year.

The authors, who based their study on data for the three decades leading up to the 1997 general election, conclude: "The UK stands out, first in that the increase in poverty was so large (more than 40 per cent between 1986 and 1991) and second in that its starting level was already the highest in the EU." Even with this rapidly rising mass poverty among our own people, the Labour government, like the Tory administration before it, has in-

The mass poverty that the industrial revolution left behind has returned. Labour and the rest of the 'defenders' of the working class only care about 'asylum seekers'.
The Tories are no better. It was under Margaret Thatcher that this terrible mess started.
The other parties won't address the problem, so the poverty level will continue to grow until a BNP government comes to power and puts our own people first!

Racist ink banned!

YORKSHIRE firefighters are pushing the national campaign against racism to new heights by raising a ban on using only black ink on job application forms.

West Yorkshire Fire Brigade says it wishes to see more recruitment of ethnic firemen. A rule that forms had to be filled in with black ink meant good applicants were often rejected, so now any colour of ink will do says the brigade. The breakthrough in race relations has been welcomed by the local branch of the Fire Brigades Union.

Fitness levels are also to be lowered to widen the range of job applicants.

Pink, green or violet, diversity is the rule when it comes to ink in politically correct Yorkshire!

THE TED BUDDEN COLUMN

END IN TEARS

I don't know what it is about Labour politicians which leads them to believe that they possess the power to transform the economy in some almost mystical fashion, but they all appear to believe that they possess a magic potion.

Back in the sixties, Harold Wilson, the then Prime Minister, said that he intended to transform British industry by exposing it to "the white heat of technology". British industry then went into almost terminal decline.

The bad news for the computer industry, and especially the Internet, is that Tony Blair is on the same trail as Harold Wilson, singing its praises as if it were a religious mantra. One almost expects his head to start sprouting antennae.

A computer in every house, he promises, as though it will transform all our lives and not be for most not much more than a means of logging on to computer games. Considering the essentially anarchic character of the Internet the results could be far removed from what he intends them to be.

At least the Liberal David Lloyd George during the First World War promised something useful. Homes fit for heroes was his cry.

He didn't deliver either.

A serious side to the Internet mania is that many of the companies, which have never made a penny in profits during their whole existences, have pushed companies that actually make things out of the FT 100 share index.

Solid "blue chip" companies that actually make profits are now languishing on the sidelines. That has the potential for depressing their share price and making it more difficult for them to raise money for expansion. This is at least in some measure due to Tony Blair's infatuation with the Internet.

I hope that the men who run the nation's company pension schemes don't share his infatuation because it will end in tears.

GOODBYE WHITEY

The Chinese government, which had previously rigorously enforced one-child-per-family, has now reversed this suicidal policy on realising that its labour force will not be sufficient to support an ageing population.

Since Chinese are expected to work until they drop, the situation may not be as serious as it is in the West.

Nevertheless, it is proof that Chinese leaders are a whole lot smarter than their Western counterparts - not too difficult a task at all.

A study by the United Nations Population Division estimates that the EU will need up to 159 million immigrants to keep up the current ratio between workers and retired people.

This may not be at all alarming to the haters of white people who form the governments of Europe, but it a matter of great concern to everyone who values our existence. Whereas the chief ambition of people in the Western world seems to be to retire at fifty, the effect will be that they will either have to work until they drop like the Chinese, or face the prospect of ceasing to exist at all.

The fault lies squarely with Western women and the encouragement governments give them not to have children.

With 160,000 abortions carried out yearly they are putting the whole people in jeopardy.

Western governments appear quite happy to sanction abortion on demand then complain at the lack of births.

When I was a shop steward, I forecast with absolute certainty that equal pay would not result in women being paid more but in men being paid less, and as a consequence many men don't earn enough to support a family.

If our ways are not soon changed, it will be a case of Kiss Whitey Goodbye.

THE BRUSH OFF

The failure of the Belfast shipbuilding firm of Harland & Wolfe to win the order for Cunard's new super liner, and the fact that this may force the firm's closure, was reported by the BBC with something suspiciously like glee.

The BBC has long been regarded as the public relations arm of the IRA and seeing that Harland & Wolfe has long been a loyalist stronghold, the BBC commented that the "nationalists" would be happy to give the loyalists a black eye.

Such are the flimsy building blocks of the fraudulent "peace process".

Meanwhile Tony Blair's trusted buddy, the supercilious

Peter Mandelson, was using the facilities of Irish TV to describe the British Army as "chinless wonders" - presumably in order to amuse and to curry favour with "nationalists".

Simultaneously, the Irish Prime Minister, Bertie Ahern, was calling for the British Army to be withdrawn from the "bandit country" of South Armagh where, he alleged, the Army were "harassing nationalists".

The British Government pretends to regard the Dublin Government as an ally despite all the evidence to the contrary. It is not an ally, it is the enemy and it needs IRA terrorists to give it spurious legitimacy to intervene in British territory.

The Irish Government seriously considered sending troops into Ulster twenty five years ago, and it was only the presence of British troops which prevented it.

One gets the feeling that it would like to do so again under the pretext of defending the "nationalist community" from the fiendish loyalists.

One of the few scrupulously honest politicians in Northern Ireland, the Reverend Ian Paisley, knows this only too well and opposes the bogus "peace process" because he knows that it is merely the prelude to a sell-out. But it must be made to seem that there is no opposition to the "peace process".

Therefore the Democratic Unionists are almost never mentioned these days on any of the media. It is as though they have been airbrushed out of existence. After all, nothing can be allowed to interrupt the "peace process", especially the truth.

THE BNP AND RACE

The BNP is best known for its policy on race and immigration. The BNP opposes immigration into the UK from whatever its source.

For forty years this immigration has primarily been coloured. But it is not an issue of colour since the party is equally opposed to immigration from Albania and Eastern Europe.

The BNP is not a 'race supremacist' party. The BNP does not claim that any one race is superior to any other, simply that they are different.

The party merely wishes to preserve those differences which make up the rich tapestry of human kind.

Neither has the BNP any connection with 'race hate'. Indeed it is the multi-racialists who are the haters since it is they who are determined to destroy all cultures and all races to achieve a multi-racial mish-mash. To protect and preserve the racial and cultural integrity of the British people — and of others too, the party believes in separation. Only in a Black society will Black kids find true Black role models.

Only in a Muslim society will Muslims find their religion free from Western influence.

All peoples need a homeland. The British too need a homeland.

Nor are the BNP 'racist'. Indeed, the BNP are resisting the racist colonisation of Britain in which the native people of Britain are having their culture suppressed, their land colonised and are being discriminated against on racial grounds.

To sum up, the BNP is fighting for the very right to exist of not just the British, but of all peoples.

IT'S NOT A MATTER OF HATE!

● The multiracists who are trying to destroy the identity of Britain often say that anyone who opposes mass immigration and forced multiculturalism is a 'bigot' or a 'hater'. This is nonsense!

The truth is that the real bigots are the people who are so hostile to the British that they've turned us into second class citizens in our own country. And the real race haters are the people who want to mix up and destroy all the separate races and cultures so that international big business can make maximum profits in a single, globalised world market.

Many non-whites, particularly Black separatists and Muslims, completely agree with the British National Party in rejecting enforced multiculturalism. More and more of the immigrants who came here during the 1950s and 1960s are realising that they were tricked into coming here as cheap labour for Tory businessmen and cheap votes for Labour councillors, and that Britain really doesn't suit them — which is why thousands of West Indians in particular are now returning home. Labour Home Office spokesman Mike O'Brien recently warned on Radio Five that, if the multiracial experiment failed, "our children, black and white alike, will pay a heavy price."

Being politically active in local communities in many of the most heavily multiracial areas of Britain, the BNP knows that the multiracial experiment has already failed. This is why we want to bring it to an end, and to provide the financial assistance needed to enable the very large numbers of non-whites who want to return to their lands of ethnic origin to do so. Our Homeward Bound offer has led to cooperation between BNP activists and black people who want to leave Britain, and we are always very happy to work with them.

racism. But because the victims are 'mere' whites, they all try to pretend it isn't happening or it doesn't matter.

But it is happening, and it does matter. At least, it matters to the British National Party and ordinary people like us. That's why this issue of Freedom has devoted its front page to this story. In the multiracist propaganda fantasies of Labour spin-doctors and liberal journalists, the increasingly obvious failure of the multiracial 'experiment' is always the fault of wicked white people. They just can't admit the truth: the majority of the victims of racism in Britain are white. So, to them, Richard Holmes and his terrible injuries just don't count. As far as the national media are concerned, Richard Holmes doesn't exist.

Nor was this a one-off incident. It's a regular fact of life in many ethnically mixed areas — just ask people in northern towns like Burnley, work of an unpleasant minority, and no doubt are rejected by the majority of their communities. It's quite likely that Richard Holmes had black friends in his Cadet Corps who are every bit as decent and law-abiding as himself.

But we do want to point out the disgusting double standards of the other political parties, the national media and the politically correct bosses of Britain's police forces — all of whom go to extraordinary lengths to stop the long-suffering British people learning the full extent of the failure of the multiracial 'experiment'.

We want to do this not so as to make political capital out of the suffering of people like Chris Cotter and Richard Holmes, but because we know that such problems cannot be solved until everyone involved will at least be honest enough to admit that they exist.

Whites have rights too, but all too often they are ignored, and we've had enough of it. By voting British National Party in the forthcoming London and local council elections, large numbers of decent, ordinary people are going to show Blair & Co. that they've had enough too!

Vienna is one place to watch. The Austrians are rich, but Vienna is being taken over by bold and often violent beggars from all over Eastern Europe and the Balkans.

Control of immigration has virtually broken down in Austria, and the law is too inhibited by human rights provisions, beyond the power of national parliaments to repeal, to do anything effective about it.

The result is that one-third of the Austrians have voted for Jorg Haider — and he is likely to win the next election outright. The same could easily happen, on a much bigger scale, in Germany, whose 70-million population is increasingly fed up with refugees and asylum seekers, who exploit its lavish welfare system, rob and grab low-paid jobs.

The French, Italians, and Spanish are getting angry too.

My guess is that unless Brussels can solve the problem — and why should it, where so many before have failed? — it will break up the European Union by securing the votes of parties pledged to end it.
Paul Johnson, Daily Mail

The very word racism is rapidly losing its meaning. Once it meant the conscious belief that some races were inferior to others. But Mr Straw, Sir William Macpherson and the rest now take the word to mean something quite different.

Enough that somebody, somewhere, thinks that we are racist for us to be guilty as charged. This is where the new orthodoxy becomes so dangerous. The true purpose is to shift power from the majority to the new group rights lobbies. Suddenly to be white is to be bigoted a worm. To be a white policeman, more contemptible still.

White policemen are now frightened to question suspects of other races, for fear of being accused of racism.

No wonder they are afraid, when such accusations are considered to be true by the very fact of their being made.

Police chiefs such as Deputy Assistant Commissioner John Grieve, in charge of Scotland Yards Racial and Violent Crime Task Force, fail to speak out against the new orthodoxy.

It is difficult to know whether the Governments proposal that teachers inculcate in their pupils the value of marriage — as a quid pro quo for the repeal of Section 28 — should evoke laughter or tears: laughter at its sheer absurdity, or tears that we should be ruled by nincompoops. It is unlikely that teachers, so many of whom are unpersuaded of the necessity to impart correct grammar and spelling to their pupils, will be convincing as moral guardians. Moreover many of the teachers themselves have descended into the moral morass from which they are now expected, by means of mere homily, to extricate their pupils.

I can think of few less suitable groups than modern teachers to extol the virtues of fidelity and family stability in any form. Our children might not be able to read properly or do the simplest arithmetic, but they are still able to sniff out hypocrisy with the greatest acuity.

When television bosses start talking about historical truth and freedom of expression I start to feel uneasy, not to say sick.

Anyone who has ever tried to work with the essentially fraudulent devices of television will know that it is a medium in which truth telling is almost impossible.

Add up the number of words on a television news broadcast and you will have a short paragraph in The Sun.

That is the level of sophistication in news coverage.

Add to that the editorial policy which allows only one or at most two points of view about any news story.

EU is in the 'grip of the mafia'

Eureaucrat.... Vice president Kinnock

EX-EU official Paul Van Buitenen has made a damning allegation that EU bosses are in the grip of the mafia, and that the Brussels bureaucracy is riddled with "networks where you don't know what is happening."

Paul Van Buitenen blew the whistle on the mass scale of corruption within the EU and forced the entire unelected European Commission to resign only last year. He added he was convinced that the mafia has influence but could not prove it. He has also now warned that EU vice president Neil Kinnock's 'reforms' to beat corruption will fail miserably. Which means, of course, that Britain's EU bill will continue to rise still further from the £40 million a day it is at the present. That translates to 1.6 million a day!

THE GREAT QUESTION TIME MYSTERY

Many readers of Freedom will have wondered how it is that audiences on BBC's Question Time seem to be composed almost exclusively of ultra-liberals, whose views are suspiciously unlike those of most of the public. How do the BBC's experts do it?

Freedom is proud to bring you the inside story from someone who has actually appeared on the programme!

"I've been in the Question Time audience and my views are not often described as 'liberal'. How it works is as follows:

- 1) You apply.
- 2) you are phoned and asked a few questions to see if you are a muppet. I passed, so the initial vetting can't be that bad. Mind you, they do require you to state your social group (sort of) by asking you your profession. They also ask you what your politics are. I said 'liberal' (but meant, floating voter).
- 3) Your tickets are posted.
- 4) You arrive at the studio and are herded into a room where you eat a sandwich, drink coffee and write out two questions. All the time this is happening you are being played BBC news footage of the day's events.
- 5) You submit your questions and if you are chosen (who has written down the question that the politicians want to answer) you are taken to one side and briefed.
- 6) You enter the studio and are given a quick prep on when to clap etc.
- 7) The warm up man enters! And herein lies the problem. He asks

David Bimbleby... Question Time host

a few current questions and everyone gets to see how talkative you are. Behind the scenes the producer or someone is monitoring to see who might ask 'awkward' questions or make trouble. 8) The program starts, the 'Three Stooges' fire off their pre-chosen questions and the politicians trot out their pre-rehearsed answers. Occasionally Dimbleby opens up to the audience for a question (count the number of times - NOT VERY MANY! Also look at the camera angle, the minimum number of surrounding people are shown, thus eliminating heckling opportunities). I'm guessing that only people that the producer OK's are brought in for comment.

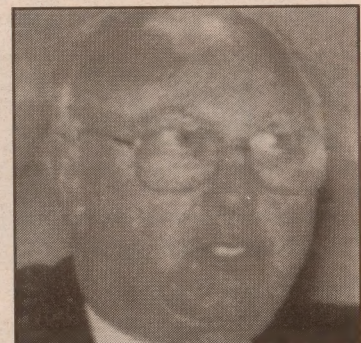

9) The whole thing is taped. After the hour, the audience wait until the producer agrees (in case anything needs re-filming), you leave the studio and are home in time to watch it go out.... That's the magic of television!"

A trade union stands up for its workers rather than its Communist ideology

THE AEEU engineering union's chief, Sir Ken Jackson, has announced that he has been inundated with phone calls from angry workers who are sick of trying to survive in a 'world' economy while they watch scroungers from every corner of the globe living in luxury milking their hard earned taxes.

With some tabloids saying that this issue will dominate the next general election; and the Sun newspaper running daily front pages, only the BNP can benefit from what Sir Ken Jackson calls a "big issue in Labour heartlands."

Mirroring the our sentiments he says: "It may not worry the chattering classes but it angers working people. "They work hard but feel their taxes are flushed down the drain on people who don't need handouts." The sight of a trade union leader making such comments in a sure indicator of a countrywide change of mood, because left-wing union lead-

Election Appeal Fund

The Greater London Assembly elections will be held on Thursday May 4th.

Voice of Freedom is pleased to be able to confirm that the British National Party will be standing a candidate for mayor, the party press officer Michael Newland, and a slate of candidates for the proportional representation 'top-up' seats in the Assembly.

This means that Londoners in every part of the capital will have the opportunity to vote both for an individual BNP candidate, and for the party itself.

The party's mayoral candidate will also have his election address distributed to every voter in a booklet being prepared by the Returning Officer which will include the addresses of all the candidates. The booklets are going to be sent out in individually addressed envelopes, which we expect to diminish the chances of massive areas never receiving addresses, as occurred during the European elections last year.

All this is costing the party £25,000 in deposits alone. However, £5,000 will be returned to any party taking 2.5% of the vote in the party list, and £10,000 to mayoral candidates winning more than 5%. The BNP will be going all out to boost its votes, with mass distribution of copies of Freedom in our best areas and other publicity initiatives.

Among these will be a fleet of loudspeaker vans, which will allow a relatively small number of activists to build a high profile for the BNP campaign.

On top of this, we will be aiming to use the 'controversial' status of the Party to get publicity in local newspapers for the roving leafleting teams covering areas of particular potential all over London.

With the need to provide administrative backup as well, this means that the total costs will reach about £30,000.

With many BNP branches and groups elsewhere in the country also heavily committed to fighting local government elections in May, we need to raise the maximum amount in donations to ensure that after the poll we have adequate funds to move forward on the back of massive exposure for the party.

That means that we need the help of new readers of Freedom. Even if you are reading this in a town or city hundreds of miles from London, you'll understand that a good showing by the British National Party in our capital city will give us a tremendous boost across the whole of the country.

If this is the first time you've read anything from the British National Party, the chances are that you're delighted at last to find a party that is prepared to stand up and say out loud the things you've been thinking for so long.

But just because more and more people like you are in agreement with us isn't going to help us save Britain. Only organised political work will change anything. Our crusade to do just that needs more members, more activists, and more money.

We hope that you're already ready to join the growing number of decent Britons working to build the British National Party, but even if you aren't quite ready to commit yourself to being active, you can choose to do your bit in confidence by sending a donation towards our £10,000 GLA Election Fund.

Please make cheques/POs payable to 'British National Party' and send to PO Box 25352, London NW5 2FE.

Please note that donations of less than £10 will only be acknowledged if an SAE is provided. Thank you.

HELP US TO FIGHT FOR YOUR BRITISH INTERESTS IN LONDON — BECAUSE IT'S STILL OUR CAPITAL CITY!

I enclose £ _____ to help the BNP's good work.

Left: Albanian immigrants pour off a freighter into Italy. Once there, EU rules make it easy for them to join the flood of immigrants and bogus 'asylum seekers' pouring into Britain. It's a question of space.

DO YOU THINK that Britain should stop taking in, housing, feeding and caring for thousands of 'asylum seekers' at a time when homelessness and hospital waiting lists are steadily rising?

YES/NO

that local councils should start putting native-born British people to the front of the housing queue for a change?

YES/NO

that the Home Secretary is wrong to give an extra 30,000 'asylum seekers' the right to stay in Britain just because the authorities haven't been able to investigate the often bogus claims as to why they should be allowed in?

YES/NO

that we should stop building new houses on green field sites to make room for 150,000 extra immigrants every year?

YES/NO

that the politicians were wrong to allow mass immigration to change the face of our country, without ever even asking if we wanted it?

YES/NO

'Yes' every time? That's what we think too. That's why we're building the British National Party, and why you should join our campaign to put the British people first, before bogus asylum seekers and before new immigrants... before it's too late.

EU TO 'BRAINWASH' CHILDREN

THE EU is to 'brainwash' children as young as seven in an effort to persuade them to give up their freedom to international bankers and Brussels bureaucrats.

More than a million booklets about the 'benefits' of joining the European Single Currency are going to be distributed to British schools.

The propaganda pamphlet features pro-European articles and quizzes, and claims that children would get more pocket money if they could use one currency on a shopping trip across Europe.

It doesn't say anything about the fact that our government is banned by the EU from helping to prevent the closure of plants like Longbridge.

It doesn't say that ordinary European voters will have virtually no control over their affairs at all, which will be decided by unelected 'commissioners' fronted by a poodle parliament.

Political views should not be rammed down the throats of schoolchildren, especially views that from another country.

But deceitful propaganda stunts are nothing new to the Eurocrats. The Britain in Europe campaign has recently run an outrageously misleading bill-board campaign claiming: "Cut off from Europe, 3 million jobs face the axe."

How on earth Britain will be "cut off" from Europe if we don't join the Single Currency we will never know. After all, Norway and Switzerland are doing very well indeed economically, and they haven't joined the EU. These prospering countries aren't "cut off" from Europe.

On the other hand, many countries in the European Single Currency area are economic cripples.

We're better off on our own, free to trade with everybody in the world — when it suits us.

The Big Three of the Britain in Europe campaign..... Tony Blair, Michael Heseltine and Kenneth Clark. All ready to sell out Britain to multi-national corporations and international bankers

In other parts of the country, BNP candidates will be standing in the local council elections taking place on the same day. Areas being contested include parts of Tyne and Wear, Lancashire, Yorkshire, Stoke-on-Trent, the West Midlands and Hertfordshire.

Residents in these areas who receive a copy of Freedom should also look out for our election address. Make sure you exercise your right to vote on May 4th. And make sure you use that vote to support BNP candidates who really care about our own people, and to send Blair & Co a clear message: "Britain's had enough!"

Don't waste your vote on the old gang!

The vast majority of readers of this issue of Freedom will have British National Party candidates to vote for in elections on May 4th.

If this includes you, please make sure that you vote BNP, and encourage everyone you know to do the same. A single vote can make the difference between being elected or not, saving a deposit in London, or beating another major party into third place - and that vote could be yours!

If, on the other hand, you are in an area which has elections but do not have a BNP candidate this time around, don't waste your vote on one of the other parties who have made such a mess of local and national government in Britain. If there's a decent independent candidate consider giving him or her your vote.

The recent mess with Rover was to be expected.

Who in their right minds would believe that the Germans would look after the British car industry? It sickens me to see the British drool over Volkswagen and other German brands of car.

When Gordon Brown said that there would be no unemployment in a few years time I was disgusted.

This must be the sickest joke I have heard from a politician in a long time. The Tories destroyed this country and now New Labour, devoid of any new ideas, is continuing down the same Tory path.

The top 15% seem to enjoy the fruits of the world and everybody else is fed a pack of lies.

David Steel,
BNP Internet letters

Freedom readers may be interested in a recent television poll carried out in Birmingham amongst young people (16-21) about their feelings regarding the democratic election of the Freedom Party in Austria.

Not one of the young people questioned on the streets of Birmingham thought it right that our government should interfere in Austrian affairs, and that it was for the people of Austria to decide their future.

Mrs J Reed, Birmingham

BBC's Panorama recently revealed New Labour's deceit on countrywide dispersal of asylum seekers.

One Home Office recorded asylum seeker, detained in London while his family was dumped on Liverpool, became an unrecorded eight asylum seekers when he eventually joined them! Father, mother and six children.

Phineas Barnum must have been thinking of the British taxpaying electorate when he said 'A sucker is born every minute'.

FL Jones, Malvern

I am constantly being informed by the media that the police forces are white racist groups - with none more racist than the Metropolitan Police, whose Commissioner was misled into prostrating himself in the dust before the Steven Lawrence enquiry.

How is it then that the chief spokesman against racism in the police force is a member of the Federation of BLACK Police Officers?

What would be the reaction of the press to the formation of a Federation of WHITE Police Officers?

RGB Holroyd, Ipswich

Why should Britain give more than her fair share of aid to disaster areas worldwide?

There are enough black doctors, black nurses and black business people who should be in Mozambique helping their own people.

Paul Borg, London

Margaret Hodge, Minister for Employment and Equal Opportunities, wants to change the work permit system to give 'British' firms the opportunity to import foreign labour from India and Russia.

It appears that a programmer of Internet software commands a salary of £80,000. A similarly qualified Indian software programmer earns £1740.

While writing, the late Captain Ken McKilliam and I began ABEX some 25 years ago.

It became quite successful, having its own lapel badge and tie. The Ministry of Defence proscribed it.

Frederick Tanner, Bristol

I'm sure that, like myself, more and more people are trying to make sense of government policy. A recent morning headline in Newcastle read Hundreds more asylum seekers heading for the city with details about how refugees from Kosovo, Albania, Iraq and Iran would be seeking accommodation in the area.

The evening newspaper the same day reported that the charity Shelter found that 11,000 people in the region were officially recognised as homeless.

I'm surprised that the hundreds of people selling the Big Issue didn't start a Homeless people against refugees campaign.

Another piece of political correctness gone mad is that the local Beamish Museum, one of the areas biggest tourist attractions, has been told by trading standards that its authentic Edwardian shop must weigh its sweets in grammes not ounces, and that imperial measures must be replaced.

They are threatened with a £5,000 fine. If other patriotic Geordies see all this is crazy they should join the BNP.

J Aspinall, Gateshead

I have telephoned the local Bradford Telegraph & Argus and complained about the difference in the size of reports when an attack occurs on a white person rather than an Asian.

Name and address supplied, Bradford

Labour's moron vote is always with us. It goes like this: "Me old dad always voted Labour and 'is dad before 'im" and "I'm working-class and they are the party of the poor/working-class, ain't they".

Socialism was not invented by working-class folk. None of the heroes of socialism were working-class.

Marx: son of lawyer, had a maid, got her pregnant. Engels: manager of family-owned cotton mill in Manchester.

Lenin: lawyer, at a time when most Russians (70%) couldn't even read or write. Trotsky: rich family. In fact, they all came from very privileged backgrounds for their time.

We have got to destroy the myth that the Labour Party is the "Party of the Working-Class". It is not, and it does not reflect the feelings of working-class people. Most are against immigration, and support strong defence and capital punishment.

BNP Internet letters

During February my wife, her mother and grandmother went to London to see a show.

On the tube coming home they were surrounded by East European beggars who stole my grandmothers purse.

The police were called and their reaction was "We can't do anything about it, our hands are tied" and "If we arrest them they will be released straight away and do the same thing again."

Does no one take responsibility for this situation in our once great country?

ZIMBABWEAN MILITANTS START ETHNIC CLEANSING

ZIMBABWE is close to anarchy as the ruling black elite has ordered the 'takeover' of 600 white-owned farms by squatters. Now a church-organised march for peace has been attacked by 200 black thugs armed with iron bars and pickaxe handles. Whites were singled out and beaten as the campaign to ethnically cleanse the 'multi-racial' country of whites intensifies.

President Mugabe has given his support to the occupation of the 600 farms in an effort to deflect attention from the catastrophic failure of his economic policy, and to pay off cronies who keep him in power.

The farm occupation - by groups saying they represent veterans whose terrorist campaign helped end white rule in 1980 in what was then Rhodesia - began a month after the land now".

"Anyone who wants to deny us the land of our forefathers will have to fight us, and we are ready for that fight," he told a rally of the Zimbabwe National Liberation War Veterans' Association.

The Foreign Office has drawn up plans for the mass evacuation of British nationals. A sense of panic is evident in the dozens of whites applying for passports at the British High Commission, where additional consular staff have been brought in to help.

Most of the 60,000 white Zimbabweans are of British descent, although only 25,000 are thought to hold British passports.

In Zimbabwe the British community is too large for the kind of airborne rescue operations that have saved European expatriates in countries such as Zaire. The most obvious escape route would be overland into South Africa, but as this is now another black country trying to rid itself of its white inhabitants, the signs are that South Africa will try to block any whites coming soon."

He said: "Should the party fail us, we would rather go into a military government to set things straight."

On past experience of these peoples 'military' campaigns, "setting things straight" would mean a brutal and genocidal terrorist campaign against the country's whites.

It now seems certain that should the black extremists and racists not get their way, they will attempt a military coup with the end result of declaring war on the white population.

DOUBLE STANDARDS

Imagine if the same thing were to happen in Europe but against black people.

The United Nations would impose economic sanctions, America would send aircraft carriers to the seas around Europe ready for bombing, and there would be a mass of demonstrations. But as this is happening in Africa and the victims are white, no action is being taken, and the media liberals who usually make such a fuss about 'racism' and ethnic cleansing are strangely silent.

What is happening in Africa to whites is happening in Europe too. White people are being steadily edged into a position where they are to be treated as an inferior race which can be dispossessed. Anyone who objects is accused of 'racism'. The only difference between Africa and Britain is that here it is white politicians who are attacking their own people, and without any of the excuses like colonialism which Mugabe can employ.

government lost a referendum that would have allowed it special powers to go on the offensive against the country's whites.

The squatters said they would "fight anyone who tried to evict them." David Hasluck, the squatters' Union chief retorted that: "If the parties to this order do not comply, there will be de facto anarchy, and this would be of grave concern to all the citizens of Zimbabwe."

A spokesman for the squatters, Joseph Chinotimba said his members would not leave the farms.

"We fought for land and we are getting this into the country.

But get out of Zimbabwe they probably will have to. Agrippa Gava, the director of the Liberation War Veterans' Association, whose 50,000 members are spearheading the farm land seizures warned of impending civil war.

"We have a history of fighting for our land," he said. "We have reached a point of no return."

He has also sent a letter to the Queen urging Britain, as the former colonial power, to pay white farmers compensation for losing lands to avert "a bloodbath coming up

BN BRIEFING

UKIP DISINTEGRATING

The UK Independence Party has seen its number of MEPs drop from three to two after the party's former leader Michael Holmes resigned from the European Parliament. The South West MEP said he had no confidence in UKIP's ruling executive.

The anti-federal party has been going through turmoil recently. In October the party voted to dismiss all of its 16-strong ruling committee during its annual conference. UKIP, as the BNP has often warned, is a single-issue group composed of people who agree on nothing but Europe. The consequences were always inevitable as various factions tried to widen the party's appeal with a range of policies - on which they were unable to agree. UKIP is now expected to split.

'GAY MARRIAGE'

Researchers have found that the number of homosexuals living in stable relationships is too low to count. Less than one in 300 hundred of the population lives in anything which might be considered even a steady homosexual relationship - let alone anything approximating a 'marriage'.

The figure contradicts liberal claims that one in ten of the population is homosexual - five million people - and the claim of large numbers of stable homosexual relationships which should be legalised as 'marriages'. Propaganda wildly exaggerating the number of homosexuals has been a weapon used for years by the 'gay lobby' to gain power.

Prospective mayor of London and supporter of the IRA

OF THE MONTH

April 23rd is St. George's Day! Freedom urges all British patriots to celebrate the national day and the patron saint of England by flying or displaying the Cross of St. George.

The time has come for the 'white tribes' of the British Isles to reclaim their identities, and celebrating the saints days of England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland (because St. Patrick wasn't a republican!) and Cornwall is a good place to start.

In addition to flying the flag, and encouraging local councils, churches and residents to do the same, BNP members and supporters in a number of areas will be holding dinners, social evenings and extra activities to mark St. George's Day this year.

FLY THE FLAG!

Celebrate St. Georges Day

The British National Party will also be campaigning to make Trafalgar Day - October 21st - a special day for the celebration of our joint British identity and heritage.

What better day to fly the Union Flag than the date when men from every corner of the British Isles were united against an earlier attempt to impose a European Empire?

National conference approves new party constitution

"Professional, well-organised and successful" - that was the verdict from everyone attending the British National Party's national General Members' Meeting early in March. About 300 activists from every part of the British Isles met in a superb conference venue in Milton Keynes.

The first part of the meeting was taken up by constitutional amendments. These covered three main areas: the BNP's principles; financial accountability, and providing a system of checks and balances to help ensure continued sound national leadership.

The fine-tuning of the principles section makes explicit the party's commitment to protecting and enhancing the democratic process, and to bringing the failed multiracial experiment to an end through negotiation and consent rather than by compulsion. The section of the constitution dealing with party financial arrangements was changed to provide the accountability that is essential to a political movement positioning itself to make capital out of the corruption and sleaze which riddles the old parties. Steps to broaden the party's leadership base without losing the edge provided by the 'leadership principle' will fit the BNP for the rapid growth that everyone in touch with the grass-roots knows is starting to happen.

Following a debate about a proposed amendment, and a counter amendment put from the floor, the revised constitution was adopted by unanimous vote of all those present.

Meeting chairman Frank Forte was on splendid form, entertaining and enthusing everyone present as he introduced the various speakers, including the organisers of all BNP regions contesting the forthcoming elections. They were followed by BNP Deputy Chair, Mrs. Sharron Edwards, who spoke about the way in which sensible, mainstream policies and hard work at local level would bring in not just votes but also more of the women which the party tended to lack in the past. The fact that these changes are starting to make a real impact was indeed reflected by the number of ladies in the hall.

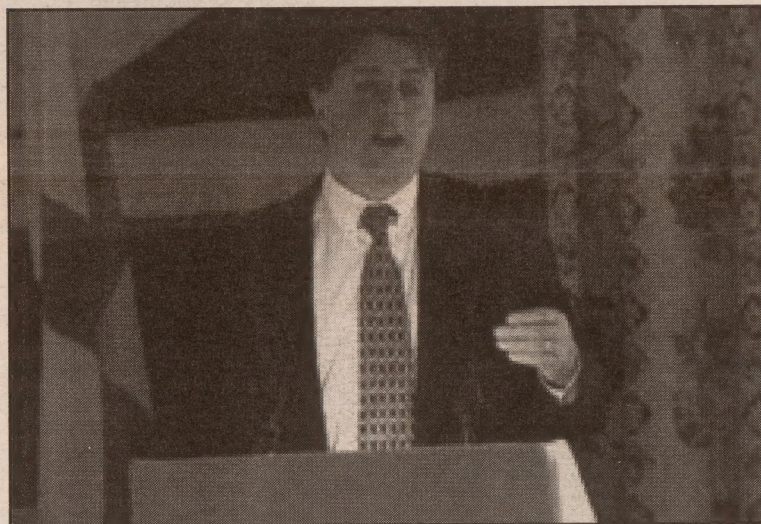

Peterborough-based super-activist Pete Baker was another very popular speaker, reducing everyone present to fits of laughter at several points with his usual mixture of humour and well-phrased observations about life in Blair's madhouse.

Following a minute's silence in memory of Dave Bruce, the founder member of the BNP who used to make such a brilliant job of conducting collections at such meetings in the past, Frank Forte ran a fast-moving Dutch Auction. This raised a magnificent total of more than £4,000 - the second highest figure ever for a BNP collection.

Finally, the party's National Chairman, Mr. Nick Griffin, gave a powerful speech which covered the worst of the ways in which the old parties have let the British people down so badly, and reviewed the evidence showing that more and more people are refusing to take any more of their failure and corruption. He described the political situation in Britain as a "tinderbox, just waiting for the spark which will set organised nationalism growing like wildfire."

"Every leaflet you put out, every paper you sell, every person you talk to about the British National Party, is another stick placed on the pile that is soon going to become the bonfire on which fifty years of shame, fifty years of treason, fifty years of failure, and fifty years of misrule will be burnt away."

The standing ovation that followed left no one in any doubt that the activists and officials of the British National Party face the future with a great spirit of unity, confidence and enthusiasm. The overall theme of the meeting said it all: We're moving up a gear!

SCOTLAND SURGES ON!

SCOTLAND BNP have been going from strength to strength in the past few months.

This coverage shows how simple leafletting can lead to hysterical media coverage and a wave of recruitment.

Articles talking about the controversial and far-right British National Party dominated Scottish news for two days before subsiding with the occasional media rumbling.

Scottish Press Official Kenny Smith has taken Radio Clyde to task with its slipshod reporting of the event. The BNP, he said is more in tune with the public on the refugee crisis than any other party.

Racist leaflets attack city's asylum seekers

THE British National Party is distributing racist leaflets in areas of Glasgow where asylum seekers are being housed by the council.

The Scottish Refugee Council said last night that leaflets seeking to link problems including homelessness and hospital waiting lists with refugees have been put delivered in the city's Sighthill area.

It said the move had "increased the level of fear" among asylum seekers in the city and was an obvious attempt to capitalise on events last week, when a group of around 12 refugees was discovered begging with children in the Bishopbriggs area.

A political scuffle subsequently developed between Glasgow City Council and their London counterparts when 16 refugee families were sent back to Wandsworth after it was discovered they were still subject to immigration bail restrictions requiring them to report to police stations there.

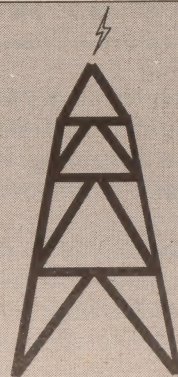

The SRC's chief executive, Ms Sally Daghlain, said: "This kind of incident follows on from recent negative statements by politicians and from hysterical reports about the behaviour of a tiny minority of asylum seekers in the media. "If ministers describe asylum seekers as 'bogus', while papers reprint the lie that asylum seekers are given large amounts of cash to live on, is it any wonder that groups like the BNP would seek to capitalise on it?" A spokesman for the City Council said: "The leaflets are an insult to Sighthill and to Glasgow as a whole."

American BNP Friends meetings success

The American Friends of the BNP (the BNP's American support group) has been going from strength to strength over the last year.

They publish an excellent newsletter — Heritage and Destiny and have a first class internet Web site. Over the last month they held two very successful meetings in different parts of the country.

The first was held on January 29th, in their stronghold of Arlington, Virginia (just outside of Washington DC) which attracted over 60 members and supporters.

Many more would have attended had it not been for the bad weather conditions. They heard speeches from Thomas Chittum — the author of the best seller Civil War Two, Jim Lubinskas — the assistant editor of American Renaissance, Mark Cotterill — Chairman of the American Friends of the BNP and Stephen King — a BNP member from London, who was over on holiday in the U.S. The collection raised over $600 (almost £400).

The second meeting was held a week later on February 5th, in sunny West Palm Beach, in South Florida.

This was new territory for the BNP, but even so over 50 members and supporters turned out for the first ever BNP meeting in Florida.

They heard speeches by Jeff Wilerson — Chairman of the America First Party, John Simila — of the Reform Party, the Rev. John D. Alder — of the European American Episcopal Church, and Mark Cotterill and Stephen King again! The meeting brought together some of the best Nationalists in Florida, including Kristin Duke, David Duke's daughter, who passed on greetings to the BNP from her father.

The collection raised over $500 (just over £300).

The American Friends of the BNP will be holding meetings throughout the year in different parts of the country.

If you are planning a holiday to the States, why not contact them while you are there. They're always pleased to hear from Nationalists in Britain.

You can contact them at P.O. Box 1746, Falls Church, VA 22041-1746, USA. Visit their Web site at: www.americabnp.net.

NORWICH BNP HITS THE HEADLINES!

Norwich BNP has hit the headlines after an article about the party was published by a University of East Anglia magazine.

The article, 'Norwich and the Nationalists', appeared in the student magazine Concrete — and was quickly withdrawn after complaints from the usual left-wing enemies of freedom of speech who control student unions.

The local Eastern Daily Press soon got hold of the story, revealing that censorship of the BNP's viewpoint had been condemned not only by the editor of Concrete, James Tapsfield, but also — surprisingly — by the local branch of the National Union of Journalists. The BNP article followed an interview with Norfolk party chairman Bill Fitt, who said that our real enemies were politicians bent on destroying us. The writers bent over backwards to place the nationalist point of view in a bad light — and failed.

Tapsfield said: "The Union [of students] are acting as thought police. Students are intelligent enough to make up their own minds... they've already ripped up the rules once. Who's to say they won't do it again?"

What really upset the left was that the article illustrated the front page of February's Voice of Freedom — and that our article on 'asylum seekers' was readable! Unfortunately for the left, all the publicity simply drew more attention to the BNP, with acres of letters appearing on the university web site about the 'scandal'. Indeed, so strongly did students feel that lefties could only watch powerlessly as a petition for freedom of speech was got up and signed by more than 850 University students. The days of left-dominated campuses are clearly nearly over.

Which proves that most people, even in the lefty hothouses of higher education support Freedom. Well done the left — the BNP is now much better known in East Anglia than ever before!

Youth wing up and running

Paul Golding: has worked hard to establish the Young BNP

The new improved Excilibur. Funds are needed to add more pages and colour.. Now available on subscription! £5

SET UP just a couple of months ago, the Young BNP is thriving and its membership is growing rapidly

The first issue of its broadsheet, Excilibur, went down very well with younger members and supporters all over the country, and plans are in hand for a second, bigger, edition.

Members are being registered and ways to use their varied talents to advance the BNP are being worked on. Those who have cyberspace capabilities are being asked to help in the expansion of the Young BNP's new website (see end for address), those who are good writers are being encouraged to write articles for Excilibur and so on.

The first three in a series of pamphlets dealing with different aspects of the National Curriculum have already been written, and will be ready for a schools' campaign later in the year.

With the growth of UK internet use rocketing, the Young BNP's website is set to reach scores of thousands of bewildered young Britons with our message of hope and national pride that is so very different from the message of misery and destruction offered by our liberal-fascist rulers.

Already, the Young BNP site has attracted a huge amount of attention in Wales over its linking of modern political issues with Celtic culture and heritage.

A half-page about the site in the Welsh edition of the Liverpool Daily Post at the end of March led to a big jump in its hit rate, as did a subsequent piece on HTV regional news, which included a short but very fair interview with BNP Chairman Nick Griffin.

But the biggest project scheduled for the Young BNP is the development of its own nationwide organisation.

This will take time to put in place, but the groundwork is already being done.

A key part in this is being played by Paul Golding, Editor of the official BNP magazine, Identity.

The most pressing thing at the moment is to get all members of the party between the ages of 14 — 24 to register with the Young BNP.

Let us know your age, educational position, interests and talents.

It was Livingstone, who as the boss of the old Greater London Council (GLC) first led the fashion for 'gay rights', ethnic employment quotas, blocked real policing, started the 'immigration is good' campaign and all the rest of today's politically correct nonsense.

Odious queer Peter Tatchell is backing Livingstone's Mayor for London campaign and if Livingstone becomes Mayor for London, Livingstone is to appoint Tatchell as his 'gay Czar' to promote minority perversion.

Both these former Labour members leave an army of others to promote perversion...

- The Labour party (backed by the Lib-Dems and by many Tories) has lowered the homosexual age of consent to allow adult perverts to have sex with young teenagers.

- The Labour party is about to release even more potentially murderous child-sex cases from prison.

- The Labour party wants to abolish Section 28, which protects our children from pro-homosexual indoctrination by left-wing education authorities.

- Many Labour party activists support the campaign by 'gay' extremists to lower the age of consent still further and so legalise paedophilia.

What we stand for

- A massive expansion of Freedom and Democracy to roll back the erosion of our traditional freedoms and truly reflect the wishes of the people; the adoption of popular referenda & hi-tech direct democracy.
- The establishment of a government that puts British interests first.
- An end to immigration and the scandal of bogus asylum-seekers flooding Britain. The use of the billions now wasted in foreign aid to fund generous 'Homeward Bound' schemes to encourage immigrants to return to their lands of origin.
- British withdrawal from the European Union: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties, and no monetary union.
- The use of the £1 million per hour we at present pay the EU to fund the restoration of an effective National Health Service and proactive measures to produce a healthier population in the first place.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources including the mass media.
- Protection of British jobs and industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- The introduction of tax incentives and other policies designed to ensure that the City finances British industry rather than foreign competitors.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside; a ban on greenfield-site house building except in cases of genuine local need; an end to field trials of genetically modified crops.
- A crack-down on crime and tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty for child killers and terrorists.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and an end to the 'trendy' teaching methods which have failed our children so badly.
- An alternative defence strategy based on the principle of armed neutrality; no British blood should be shed in conflicts which do not involve vital British interests. The restoration of the County Regiment system and reversal of the defence cuts which have weakened our Armed Forces and cost thousands of jobs.
- The crushing of the IRA and other terrorist groups, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and the establishment of a devolved, non-sectarian parliament in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values and policies aimed at strengthening the family and community. Tough penalties for corruption in public life.
